Community Food and Health (Scotland)
Online Directory of Community Food Initiatives

Community Food and Health (Scotland)'s website www.communityfoodandhealth.org.uk features a section dedicated to community food and health activity in Scotland. This includes a searchable directory of community food initiatives in Scotland (such as cooking groups, growing projects or breakfast clubs) as well as featured case studies.

Joining up to the directory means that other groups will be able to get in touch with you – it's an opportunity to network and share your work and ideas, and having your community food initiative featured as a case study will give you the opportunity to provide depth information on the work that you do.

If you know of any other groups that would be interested in becoming part of the directory, feel free to photocopy this form, request additional copies from www.communityfoodandhealth.org.uk, or by phoning Alice Baird on 0141 226 5261. If you want to know more about the Directory, please contact Alice or Ger on 0141 226 5261. For more information about Community Food and Health (Scotland), please telephone or visit www.communityfoodandhealth.org.uk

Please return the signed form to the following address. CFI Directory, Community Food and Health (Scotland), c/o SCC, FREEPOST GW 5277, Glasgow, G1 3BR.

We are sorry if you have already received a copy of this form, or if your group is not relevant to a directory of community food initiatives. If this is the case, you may want to pass this form onto a group which would like to take advantage of this directory.

Large-print copies of this form are available on request
